

Axcelis provides the following frequently asked questions and answers as an aid to help our suppliers understand their potential obligations under REACH and Axcelis' terms and conditions. The answers provided are in no way considered legal advice and should not be relied to determine your own regulatory compliance status.

REACH is a European Union Chemical Regulation that has a broad scope, essentially covering almost all products placed on the market or imported into the European Union.

Axcelis is willing to help you understand these requirements. You can send inquiries to axcelis.reach@axcelis.com. We will reply as soon as possible. There is also much guidance on the internet. Some of the best links are provided in the executive summary above.

Thank You for your support!
